

PRELIMINARY PROGRAM
FESTIVAL OF ENVIRONMENTAL STORYTELLING

Storytelling is an ideal vehicle for expressing our relationship to the world. Through the power of the imagination, storytelling serves to feed the reflection process and build awareness on our relationship to the environment. The International Festival of Environmental Storytelling promises to infuse the 5th World Environmental Education Congress with an air of “magic”.

Throughout the ages, the art of storytelling has been a powerful way for societies to reinforce their core values, knowledge and traditions and ensure these are passed down from generation to generation. Myth, legend or tale, together these make up a rich body of lore that tells of our forebearers’ concern for harmonizing the alterity of their existence within a real, imaginary or symbolic environment. The story is not a lesson in itself, but rather a free space for transforming reality through the power of words, where the line between the possible and the impossible becomes blurred and mystery reigns.
